What Future-Forward Leadership Looks Like
What Is CTDO Next?

The CTDO Next network is an exclusive individual membership for executive-level learning leaders. It was developed to help shape what’s next in the talent development field with a focus on the future of work technologies and transformations.

Leaders explore these topics and their implications and determine necessary changes through a think-tank approach.
Eivind Slaaen

Senior Vice President of Human Resources, Head of People and Culture Development at Hilti Corporation

“CTDO Next is a unique opportunity for me to get exposure to important topics of the future. Together with a diverse group of outstanding professionals, I can contribute to shape the future of talent development and prepare for the discussion we need to have in our company. The openness and trust are special and build the solid foundation we need to address the challenges ahead.”
The Benefits to Becoming a Member

Registration to Annual Retreat
Attend a complimentary two-day retreat at a world-class resort with other member executives to hear from celebrity speakers about transformations in talent development and share ideas on shaping the future of TD.

Access to Exclusive Learning Executive Content
CTDO Next members and their learning organization receive full access to ATD’s research library of more than 50 full-length research reports, in addition to case studies, quarterly index and trends reports, benchmarking data, and webcasts. Through this premier content, members stay up-to-date on emerging talent development transformations and technologies.

Networking With Executive Members
Share challenges and ideas openly with peers, facilitated by a talent development luminary.

A Platform to Share Your Thought Leadership
CTDO Next showcases its collective thought leadership through content outputs in the form of CTDO and TD magazines, conference presentations, and webcasts.

Events and Education Courses
CTDO Next members receive various complimentary registrations for their teams to use, including the ATD International Conference & Exposition, ATD-Yale Management Excellence Certificate, and TechKnowledge.

CTDO Next Member Benefits
Our members leverage this network as a platform to rethink and refine the talent development profession with like-minded peers.
Talent, learning, careers, heightened business imperatives that demand transformative thinking to ensure our functions create value in an ever-evolving business environment. CTDO has provided welcome access to some remarkable thought leadership, peer networking, and deep dives to tackle a range of vital opportunities encompassing talent analytics and AI, the competencies of tomorrow, technology adoption in talent development, redefining the measurement of our value, and even the emerging role of blockchain and learning!
